Boston, Sept. 6, 1850

My dear May:

Our friend Wallcut forgot to hand me your letter, received by him yesterday, till this moment; and I hasten to say that I will gladly avail myself of your kind suggestion to take the half past 2 o'clock train to-morrow for Worcester, that I may have the pleasure of riding with you to Leicester, according to your proposal:—that is, should this letter be received by you in season to get to Worcester without inconvenience to yourself. In case you cannot come, I will spend the afternoon at my friend Effingham L. Capron's, and take the stage for L. in the evening.

Your meeting at Princeton appears to have been a failure as to numbers. Ours at the Cape was multitudinous, especially on Sunday, and most encouraging.

With my warm regards to Mrs May,

I remain,

Faithfully yours,

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

N. B. My wife would be extremely happy to accompany me, but cannot see her way clear to leave the children.
